

Learning & Development Round Tables

Powered by PwC's Academy

L&D round table network

At PwC, we believe that together with our clients and stakeholders, we can solve important challenges. For PwC's Academy this means helping people grow to achieve organisational success. Now and in the future. In our view, the learning and development function plays a key role.

In our L&D round table sessions, senior L&D professionals share experiences, work together on current L&D challenges, inspire others and learn from each other. We come together 3 to 4 times per year. Each session is facilitated or co-facilitated by one of the round table members. By challenging one another, we create new ideas, take steps forward and keep developing ourselves as experts.
